ELECTRONIC MUSIC PRODUCER & SYNTH-MAKER BOODAMAN

UNCONVENTIONAL

lectronical musics producer since 1997, Boodaman followed a classical formation since from his young age and initiated himself after adolescence to the joys of sonor synthesis, deejaying, live act and musical production. After a first vinyle EP produced in 1998, he tours the swiss concert halls and clubs with his exclusively

« At the end of the 90's, sometimes the concert halls were so crowded but yet so small ant the ceiling so low that condensation dropped on my machines. I therefore had to play under a trash bag. » hardware live.

Since always, he is completely obsessed and fascinated by the synthetisers and is a huge lover of music in general. That is naturally that with the years passing, he continues to produce electronical musics. "electronical musics", he cares about it because he does not like to contain himself to a single style or genre, forget the etiquettes and the elitism. That is why if you listen to his discography, you will go from electropop, to drum'n'bass, passing by trip-hop, house or techno. If you still want to give him an etiquette, say " elle Citronical musics producer"

Nevertheless, his productions share commonalities recognisable from the first listening: simplicity, repetitivity, melody,emotion

As of today, after a year of research around the synthesis and the modular synthetisers, another year dedicated to composition, he achieves his third album "obédiences éléctroniques". An album almost entirely realised with a modular synthetiser and other synthetisers called vintage. The list is long but we can briefly mention : Roland SH-101, TB-303, TR-626, SH-1, RS-09, Korg MS-20, KR-55, Formanta Polivoks... An opus between modern musics and synthwave. A return to the 70's with a contemporary vision. Some of the modular system elements used to realise this album were constructed and/or conceived by Boodaman himself.
